2. Former "German 62d Armd Sig Bn" Kaserne (Ludendorf Kaserne):

Occupied to capacity by a signal unit of about six hundred troops, including soldiers of older classes and recruits between 18 and 20 years of age. 18 to 20-foot antennas were observed on each kaserne building. A short-wave radio transmitter station with four masts was located in the southeastern kaserne section. Telegraph poles with 10 wires were placed along the 1,000-foot highway-front of the kaserne. The command car, [redacted] was parked in front of the kaserne gate.

Comment:

- a. Most of the antenna installations on the three GIAMMELDI kaserne were presumably used for trainin' purposes as all troop units, and not only signal units, are not receivin' radio training. One of the observed radio stations may have been a military post transmister or a radio station for tactical communication.
- b. Attention is called to the antenna installations in the Ludendorf Kaserne. There are several indications (extent and type of aerials, use of loop antennas, etc.) that a signal intelligence unit may be stationed there.
